A special reason to celebrate

A SPECIAL charity ball will be held in May to celebrate the news that a Harlow youngster has beaten cancer.

Three-year-old Ava McCarthy was declared cancer-free last month. Now her parents - Chris and Kerry - are planning to celebrate by raising even more money for Ava's Pink Quest.

Ava was first diagnosed with a Wilms tumour - a form of kidney cancer - when she was just two. Since then her family have been raising money for the Children's Cancer and Leukaemia Group, a charity that has been supporting them after they received the devastating news.

So far they have managed to raise more than £30,000 while Ava has undergone chemotherapy, radiotherapy and 11 hours of surgery.

Now Chris and Kelly have been told Ava, who will be four next month, is in remission. "It was a funny sense really as at first we were not told directly she was in remission," said Kerry. "As Ava has suffered complications there has always been a grey area. Doctors said the next two years are critical but on the whole she is doing very well. "She is thriving, her hair is coming back and everyone is just really happy."

It was in July 2012 when 32-year-old Kerry, of Felmongers, first felt a hard lump on Ava's stomach. Despite doctor's advice to wait and see, her mother's instinct told her something could be seriously wrong and so Ava was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital.

bianca.castro@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

"I didn't know what was wrong but I knew something wasn't right," said Kerry.

Within hours Ava was transferred to Great Ormond Street Children's Hospital where, after a weekend's wait, doctors confirmed she had a Wilms tumour.

Chris, 36, and Kerry - who also have a two-year-old son Aston - started fundraising for the CCLG by holding Ava's Pink Party.

"That started it all off for us, said Kerry. "The fundraising and support has just exceeded all our expectations."

"I started the fundraising as something to occupy my mind. It was something else to focus on while I stayed with Ava in the hospital and as I couldn't be with Aston. That is how the Pink Party came along which raised £5,000 on its own."

The family, who celebrated Ava's cancer-free diagnosis with a trip to Disneyland in Florida, are now enjoying returning to normality. They will be hosting a charity ball in May as a further celebration.

Kerry added: "It is a chance to raise money again and for people to have a really good time with us and celebrate the good news."

For more information or to buy tickets to the ball email Kerry at kerry@avaspinkquest.com.

Second man charged with teen assault

POLICE investigating an assault on a teenager in Harlow last year have this week charged a second man with causing grievous bodily harm.

The victim - 17-year-old Jake Taylor, of Tithelands - suffered a broken ankle and facial injuries when he was assaulted outside a house party in Woodwards, Harlow, on Friday, November 22.

The former Harlow Rugby Club youth player died on January 15 of natural causes from an unrelated medical condition.

On Tuesday police announced they had charged Jacob Beecham, 20, of Northbrooks, Harlow, with GBH without intent. He has been released on police bail to appear at Chelmsford Magistrates Court on March 19.

Another man - Dean Neil, 20, of Altham Grove, Harlow - has already been charged with GBH without intent and assault.

No further action is to be taken against two other teenagers arrested in connection with the incident.

Cyclist treated for back injuries

A CYCLIST suffered back injuries when he was involved in an accident with a car in Second Avenue, Harlow, on Monday morning.

The road was closed for two hours following the accident which happened shortly before 9am.

The cyclist was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital for treatment to his injuries. The driver of the silver Ford Focus estate car was not injured.

Second Avenue was closed until around 11am while police carried out investigation work.

Sam helps shore up flood defences

A ROYAL Navy engineer from Harlow has been helping to build defences in Hampshire as part of the military response to protect communities from flood waters.

Leading air engineering technician Sam Kellow, 25, joined HMS Illustrious - the Royal Navy's Portsmouth-based helicopter and commando carrier - two weeks ago.

Since then he has been part of a 100-strong team helping to fill sandbags and reinforce flood defences in Winchester and Romsey.

Sam, who joined the Royal Navy in 2008 and has completed a tour of Afghanistan, said: "As an aircraft engineer I help to maintain the ship's embarked aircraft and the infrastructure needed to support them. However, we have now been tasked to assist wherever possible to build flood defences to protect houses from the flooding.

"This is the first time since joining the Royal Navy that I have been involved directly with helping people.

"We've spent all weekend filling sandbags and building flood defences to help people protect their homes"

The former Passmore School pupil added: "We're trained to expect to help with natural disasters all over the world but it's a bit different when it's your own backyard.

"Everyone is more than happy to help out."

Shop scaffolding 'is wrecking my trade'

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

A BUSINESSMAN fears he is facing financial ruin because scaffolding erected outside his shop is driving customers away.

David Burns, who owns DBS Computers in The Stow, said his takings have fallen from £360 a day to just £10 because potential customers think his premises are closed.

The scaffolding was put up by Harlow Council because of structural problems with the property above the shop.

Mr Burns, who pays £875 rent per month, is not covered by his insurance policy as the issues are not with his shop.

"It is really frustrating," he said. "The scaffolding went up in the middle of January and the council told me last Tuesday that they would put out a tender on Monday which would last 12 weeks.

"Then it's a question of deciding who to do the work and doing the work itself. It means the scaffolding will be up for 16-18 weeks."

"My contract finishes in August and it will be July by the time everything is done if it is done in the 16-18 weeks."

He added: "The council did supply a small sign saying 'DBS Computers is open' but it is so small and it has not helped.

"I keep getting people pop their head in saying that they thought I was closed - and usual customers calling to ask if I'm closed. I've had people travelling from further afield drive right past and then call me saying they couldn't find the shop or it was under construction so they went home.

"It is having a direct impact on business. I make £10 a day now, I used to be able to make £360. It's a huge fall and I cannot afford to keep making these kinds of losses."

Cllr Tony Durcan, cabinet portfolio holder for resources and enterprise at Harlow Council, said: "The recent high winds have damaged the building's main wall making it unsafe so we had no choice but to put up scaffolding.

"Our main concern is the safety and welfare of local people using the area. We are following a contract tender process for the repair work and this work will begin shortly.

"We are listening to the owner's concerns as we will be adjusting planned improvements to windows so the scaffolding can be removed as soon as the repairs have been completed."

He added: "The owner was consulted over the signage but we are happy to erect additional or bigger signage if needed."

READERS LETTERSPlanners should think again of ways to declutter our roads

SIR, I agree with Ian Kennett (Letters, February 20) who stated that a northern bypass is the only solution which would take A14 traffic away from the town.

In fact the first proposed route for the M11 was to pass north of the town, with the main route into town from the north.

The town was designed with this as the main access route, where industrial traffic would simply turn left to Templefields or right to Pinnacles and not affect local traffic or the residential areas of the town.

Despite the extra cost of this scheme, I would urge the planners to think again.

With regard to other local congestion, having lived in the town for over 30 years and having seen the change from free flowing traffic to what it is now, I struggle to understand why our planners have repeatedly implemented changes which seem to be intended to impede traffic flow.

For example, there was never a problem driving south on Velizy Avenue until the bus lane was added. The congestion heading west along Second Avenue is caused by the bus lane traffic lights and the new pedestrian crossing. The access from Fifth Avenue to the Gateway development on the site of the old ski slope was totally unnecessary (with easy access from Hammarskjöld Rd) and the route through Templefields could have been kept free of traffic lights (e.g. providing access to the retail park via the Queensgate Centre).

Could I therefore urge the planners consider ways to de-clutter the roads we already have?

Peter Smith
Aynsley Gardens, Harlow

Selfish drivers to blame for traffic hold-ups at junction

SIR, The Star has given considerable coverage to the proposals for a new junction 7a for the M11 in order to ease traffic in Harlow.

Whilst I have a tendency to agree with the underlying principle of a new junction, I do question the view put forward by many that congestion at the Hastingwood/M11 roundabout is caused primarily by the volume of traffic.

As a driver who regularly uses this route to join the M11 southbound, it never ceases to amaze me how little notice drivers take of the very clear directions at this junction.

Road markings and signage clearly indicate that the left hand lane is for M11 northbound and then for Chelmsford traffic. The right hand lane is for M11 and then Epping.

Yet the number of cars in the left hand lane who then ignore Chelmsford and head for the M11 - or even worse Epping - meaning they have to cross two lanes of traffic is astonishing. It is the selfish actions of these drivers who obviously feel that their time is far more valuable than that of any other road user that is responsible for the delays in negotiating this roundabout and entry route to the M11.

What is more, many of these drivers refuse to let those of us using the correct lanes move over as the signs indicate we should and some even act aggressively

READER Stephen Morton, of Carters Mead, Harlow, sent in this picture of a robin. "I took it at Mill Pond at Potter Street while out for a walk," he writes.

If you have a photo taken in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

towards those attempting to do so, as though they are the ones in the wrong!

A little more patience and courtesy combined with basic road craft would ensure smoother moving traffic, less congestion and fewer delays for everyone.

Gavin Johnson
Harlow (full address supplied)

New housing will exacerbate recent problems of flooding

SIR, I refer to the picture of the River Stort near Harlow Mill that had overflowed in the recent floods (Star, February 20).

With more wet weather in the future, what is going to happen to the water running off the proposed elevated site of 1,200+ homes with concrete driveways and paths that are to eventually be built on Gliden Way?

I can see so many problems with The Oxleys being flooded, along with lots of other properties, schools and roads around that area and of course the drainage system which is already at full capacity.

I do hope the council have taken this into consideration.

A. Fordham
Harlow (full address supplied)

Atrocious pavement repairs have only made them worse

SIR, Hurrah! At long last Essex County Council has decided to repair the foul up they made to the pavements coming out of Hamstel Road onto Fourth Avenue.

But what have they done is much worse than when they originally repaired the paving stones.

I hope our local county councillor will take the trouble to inspect this atrocious work and complain on our behalf to County Hall.

Maybe this sort of work is all Harlow residents can expect. After all, we don't live in the wealthier parts of Essex so we have to take what's given and keep our mouths shut.

Les Coben
Rectory Wood, Harlow

Ill-conceived improvements will just be a waste of time

SIR, May I draw your readers' attention to the recent Public Notice published in the Star detailing the prohibition traffic from turning right into Burnt Mill Lane when travelling north on Fifth Avenue.

This requires any vehicle trying to access the outdoor pursuits centre and the newly formed Riverside car park to continue, generally in heavy traffic, down to the roundabout and return southwards back along Fifth Avenue to turn left into BML.

This order, together with the closure of the road bridge in BML, is a contentious issue for no-one can inform the public if it will be repaired or replaced.

It is believed by many as an assist to alleviate the problem and stupidity of the costly Edinburgh Way/Elizabeth Way roundabout reconstruction works, which so far has caused traffic congestion, pollution, anger and misery to countless drivers.

Whatever benefit, if any, we may receive on completion of this work will be cancelled out by the increase in traffic along Elizabeth Way from Poundland's new site at Pinnacles plus the proposed 200 houses at the rugby club and 100 flats at the Motorsales site.

Having used the Edinburgh Way/Elizabeth Way roundabout several times a day for many years and experienced several so-called improvements - i.e.

traffic lights installed and removed after realising they caused more delay to traffic movement - I suggest the following as the most efficient way to help traffic flow into and out of Harlow along Fifth Avenue.

Create a slip road to connect up to the dual carriageway and a slip road onto Fifth Avenue when travelling south from High Wych direction. This section of road is generally held up by cars waiting to cross the roundabout to proceed towards Hertford.

Also, install a reasonably sized bus layby in the position of the present bus stops, reduce the size of the roundabout to stop cars zooming around as if at Brands Hatch racetrack and a 30mph speed limit which will assist traffic movement into and out of Burnt Mill Lane should it ever re open.

It is my opinion that the stupidity of this costly, ill conceived roundabout improvement work is only surpassed by the stupidity of the proposed suggested new link from the M11 into Harlow to feed traffic along an already busy Gliden Way.

Grateful thanks to PAH staff who cared for me after my fall

SIR, I would like, through the letters page of the Star, to express my gratitude to all the staff at A&E on Harold Ward in Princess Alexandra Hospital, the ambulance crew (Claire and Dan) and the physio department.

The care and respect I received after I suffered the most devastating fall on January 8 was amazing.

I am now at home making a very slow recovery with much help from my two daughters. Thank you to everyone.

Author in town for book festival talk

STEWARDS Academy will be helping to kick off the Essex Book Festival in Harlow when it hosts a talk by author Sufiya Ahmed.

Sufiya, who worked in the Houses of Common as a researcher before penning her first novel, will be at the Parnall Road school on Tuesday to discuss her book Secrets of the Henna Girl.

She will also take part in a workshop with students before holding a further session at 7.30pm to which the public are invited.

"Secrets of The Henna Girl is a story about forced marriage," said Sufiya. "It is a topic that is always in the newspapers and I wrote the story after I came across some women who had been through a forced marriage."

"I was inspired by their stories and the fact that they were fighting for more protection so that official bodies like the police force and the government would be able to do more to protect them."

Though the topic of forced marriage is a difficult one, Sufiya hopes readers will find the story a positive one. "I wanted it to be about hope; it is all about how she finds the courage to escape what has been decided for her."

She added: "I'm very much looking forward to coming to Harlow, and Stewards Academy. I love meeting young people and talking to them about writing and the issue of forced marriage."

"Both the adult session and the workshops with students should be really good. It is a book for everybody and those who enjoy reading should definitely come along."

RECIPE FOR SUCCESS: James Martin with members of PAH's catering team

TV chef gets a taste of hospital food

THE team responsible for cooking meals for patients and staff at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital found themselves in the spotlight when TV chef James Martin paid a visit during filming for his new daytime series Operation Hospital Food.

Last year James made a national appeal for hospitals which wanted to feature in the programmes in which he offers advice on improving menus.

The series kicked off on Monday with his visit to PAH during which he commented on the hospital's good quality food and the excellent service of catering staff. However, his tweaks to the hospital's catering operation led to £100-a-day increase in restaurant takings.

The number of ward patients complimenting the food has also risen since his improvements in the kitchens. These included an increase in the use of healthy ingredients and made-on-the-premises soups and baguettes as well as a new vegetable pasta bake and a sticky toffee pudding.

The catering team prepares and serves more than 1,200 meals for patients, visitors and staff every day.

Hospital chief executive Melanie Walker said: "In some ways it was very brave of senior catering manager Andy Slade and his team to put themselves forward but as James Martin said they were doing a good job and just needed a bit of expert guidance on tweaking the menus both on the wards and in the busy restaurant."

"It produced a good result for PAH all round."

Monday's programme can still be viewed on the BBC iPlayer.

'Last chance' to scupper homes plan

CAMPAIGNERS waging a battle to prevent thousands of homes being built on countryside to the north of Harlow are gearing up for their "last chance" to block plans.

East Herts Council has earmarked land at Gilston Park for development as part of its longer term planning, saying it has the potential to deliver 3,000 properties between 2022 and 2031 with more to follow.

The authority says the "broad location" is needed because Bishop's Stortford and surrounding East Herts villages cannot deliver their share of the 15,000 new homes residents will require over the next two decades, creating a deficit of 2,853.

Today (Thursday) the district council launches a public consultation on its draft local plan proposals which include its long-term vision for the Gilston area bordering High Wych and Hunsdon.

But the Stop Harlow North pressure group has warned that once land is identified for development "there will be no defence against any future planning application".

"We need to ensure a massive response rejecting the principle of

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

development in the Gilston area," it said. "We will need to give East Herts Council clear evidence that residents do not want major building on the green fields north of Harlow."

The group is planning a publicity campaign to push its message and Hunsdon Parish Council is hosting a public meeting at 7.30pm on March 17 in the village hall.

A spokesman for SHN said: "Cllr Mike Carver will be attending and we hope he will be able to explain why East Herts Council has suddenly abandoned its long-held and widely documented opposition to development north of Harlow in East Herts."

A further public meeting will be arranged in the High Wych/Gilston area in April.

The SHN spokesman said: "This consultation is vital to killing the idea of Harlow North. This really is the last chance to avoid the land being allocated for development in this plan."

COMMUNITY NEWS

Boxer John plans a knockout night for worthy cause

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A BOXER has shown his softer side by supporting children's charity Kisses4Kids at his next bout.

John Final - who trains at MadraMor Boxing Academy based at Body Active Gym in Cambridge Road, Harlow - decided to help the charity which supports children and their families who have been seriously ill or been through a family crisis by donating the proceeds of all ticket sales.

Kisses4Kids trustee Sara Evans, 42, said: "John and I met at a friend's wedding and spoke about boxing and the charity and I asked if he'd consider doing a fight night for us. He readily agreed as he said his family had been lucky enough to never have suffered from any extreme ill health. He felt he wanted to give something back to the local community."

"I was really touched when John called a few weeks later to say he would like to donate the ticket sales of his IBA fight to Kisses4Kids."

She added: "Although

CHAMPION: MadraMor Boxing Academy owner Gavin Conway, John Final, Sara Evans, Kisses4Kids founder Stacey Johnson and Ellie-Mae Evans

some might think that boxing and a children's charity wouldn't mix, I can't express how pleased I am to be working with MadraMor Boxing Academy; they are a great bunch of people.

"Boxing increases core strength and helps youngsters with special needs to increase their strength."

"As my three-year-old daughter Evie, who has Downs Syndrome, gets older I'm hoping that I can arrange for her to have some sessions in the gym."

John said: "I am a firm believer in fate and after meeting Sara at a wedding, she asked me to consider fundraising for Kisses4Kids. I kept that in the back of my mind so when my trainer asked me if I wanted another fight in March I decided I could do that for the charity."

"It has given me a spurt in training and I'm feeling good about the night. Helping Kisses4Kids is something I really want to do as they raised my awareness of what they do and it's a great charity."

The event will be held in London on Friday, March 21. For tickets and information on a possible minibus organised by the charity, call Sara on 07908 139883.

Cor blimey! It's a capital day for Ashlyn residents

STAFF and residents at Ashlyn Care Home embraced their inner Londoner with a special cockney day.

The day, which was organised by activity co-ordinator Tessa Harvey, was held at the Vicarage Wood centre where residents were quizzed on their knowledge of the capital and played a rhyming slang game.

They also tucked into traditional pie mash and liquor and were entertained by Dean Howe, who dressed as a pearly king to sing favourite songs.

Tessa said: "Dean was lovely and sung lots of songs - Roll Out The Barrel was a favourite with all the staff up and dancing with residents."

"They all had a wonderful time."

Mum's fundraiser for neonatal unit

MUM Megan Dittich, whose baby son's life was saved at Princess Alexandra Hospital, is raising money for the neonatal care unit.

Baby Ethan was born prematurely in November 2012 and spent time in the unit.

Grateful for everything the hospital did, Megan is organising a charity raffle for the unit. The grand draw will take place on Wednesday, March 12 at the Thorley Community Centre's Tumble Tots class.

To donate or for more details about the raffle go to www.justgiving.com/megandittichnicu or facebook.com/Raffleharlownicu.

Sight loss charity appeals for help

SUPPORT 4 Sight, a local charity supporting people who suffer from sight loss, are looking for volunteers to help its work.

The charity offers full training to all volunteers to ensure that those helping out have a good understanding of the organisation and can give out the appropriate information, support and advice.

A spokesman for Suppr4Sight said: "We are seeking the help of friendly caring volunteers who want to help by offering support. These opportunities are very rewarding and will give the much-needed support at the very early stages of sight loss."

To find out more, contact resource centre and volunteer manager Paul Atkins on (01799) 523700 or email paul@support4sight.org.uk.

St Clare Hospice weekly winners

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, February 21 was ticket holder 670198 who lives in Epping.

The second prize of £100 was won by the holder of ticket number 559283, who lives in Harlow.

Business donate new kit to rugby team

HARLOW College's rugby team has been given a boost - and a new kit - thanks to a generous donation from former students Owen Coyne and Chris Barrett.

The pair, who own Coventry-based machine tool company the Wickman Group, have a long-running love affair with both rugby and the Velizy Avenue college.

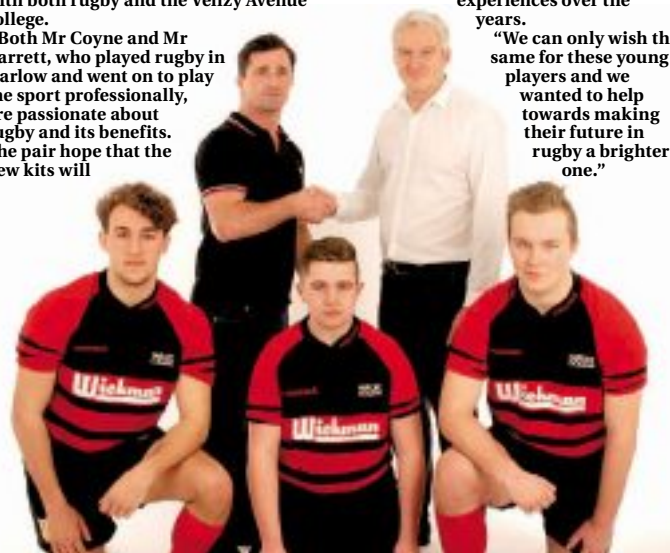

Both Mr Coyne and Mr Barrett, who played rugby in Harlow and went on to play the sport professionally, are passionate about rugby and its benefits. The pair hope that the new kits will help boost the rugby team.

During a recent visit to the college to present the new shirts, Mr Coyne said: "Rugby began in Harlow for Chris and me back when we were schoolboys."

"Growing up, we were given the opportunity to go onto playing professional rugby gaining some great experiences over the years."

"We can only wish the same for these young players and we wanted to help towards making their future in rugby a brighter one."

Council awards £90,000 advice contract to CAB

A CONTRACT worth £90,000 over three years to replace Harlow's welfare rights and advice service has been awarded by councillors.

Only one tender was received. Although Harlow Council has refused to name the successful bidder until the end of the statutory call-in period, the Star understands it is the Citizen's Advice Bureau.

The new contract - one of three options which also included a £50,000 and £70,000 alternative - is for weekday and outreach services. It will come into effect on April 1.

The provider will employ three specialist advisors supported by around 30 volunteers.

Free impartial and confidential specialist advice will be available to residents and the new contractor will work with the council, funding agencies and other service providers.

Council leader Mark Wilkinson said this week: "I am very pleased the council is now in a position to award a new contract for a specialist welfare rights and advice service in the town.

"The free-to-use service will support residents who need help coping with the challenges they face. The service provided will complement and add to existing advice service provision in the town and to the advice the council offers.

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"This new contract will provide both a high quality service for residents and value for money for the council."

He added: "The council and the contractor will be making a further announcement about the new service in the coming weeks."

The new service follows Harlow Council's on-going battle with Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice (HWRA) which ended in October last year after a High Court judge ordered the winding up of the service.

HWRA, which was based in the advice centre building at East Gate, closed its doors over a year ago after becoming embroiled in a row over money owed to the council, which rejected the offer of a phased repayment plan including an immediate payment of £60,000.

Two of the three organisations that funded HWRA agreed to finance a new charity - named Harlow Advice Centre - which is now based at Harlow Library in the town centre.

It is currently offering a limited range of specialist benefits and debt advice four days a week.

Tax bills to rise by 1.49% from April

COUNCIL tax bills for people living in the average Band C property in Harlow will rise by £5.86 a year - or 1.49% - from April.

Harlow Council has increased its share of the bill by 1.49 per cent while the amount paid to Essex Police will rise by 1.97 per cent.

Essex County Council and Essex Fire and Rescue Service are not increasing their shares of the bill.

Harlow Council - which collects the money on behalf of the county council, police and fire service - keeps £17 of every £100 collected. Essex County Council receives £70, Essex Police £9 and Essex Fire Authority £4.

It means increases of between £4.39 (Band A) to £13.18 (Band H) for Harlow residents.

Council leader Mark Wilkinson (Labour) said: "The money raised by increasing our share of council tax by 1.49 per cent will help protect the services we provide, especially when the council was faced with making savings of £1.5m to balance its books for 2014/15.

"It was a tough choice but a choice which will protect services this year."

The tax levels were finalised at a special meeting of the council last Thursday (February 20). Residents will receive their bills for 2014/15 early next month.

Cllr Wilkinson added: "For the average council taxpayer in Harlow the weekly cost for Harlow Council services is just £4.42. This helps provide services to 81,944 people and funds services like waste and recycling collections, street cleaning, maintenance of parks and open spaces, environmental health, licensing and playgrounds."

Saira on kitchen duty as Guides' guest of honour

MASTERCHEF semi-finalist Saira Hamilton was invited to swap her knives for scissors when she opened a new kitchen at Sawbridgeworth Guides' hut.

Saira, who lives in the town after being brought up in Harlow, read out a history of the hut to some 40 guests before cutting a ribbon.

Among those attending the opening of the kitchen - which was funded with sponsorship from the Stansted Airport Community Fund, Sawbridgeworth Town Council and the Stansted Airport Passenger Fund - was mayor Cllr Angela Alder.

As well as a new kitchen, two new toilets were added to the hut over Christmas. The building work took about five weeks to complete and was mainly carried out by volunteers.

The facility is home to Guides, Rainbows, Brownies and Rangers and more than 200 girls pass through its doors each week.

Liz Faulkner, pictured above with Saira and the mayor, said: "It was a super evening which was well attended. Massive appreciation was shown to all our wonderful supporters."

MP welcomes fall in town's jobless total

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has hailed the latest fall in the town's unemployment figure as proof that the Government's economic policies are working.

Figures released by the Office of National Statistics for the whole of the UK show the number of people registered as out of work fell by 125,000 to 2.34 million in the three months to December.

In Harlow, the jobless figure for Harlow stood at 1,972 - 463 fewer claimants when compared to the January 2013 total.

"It is great news that unemployment is down in Harlow and across Essex," said Mr Halfon. "It is now lower than 2010, with youth and long-term unemployment falling as well."

"I pay tribute to hardworking staff at the Job Centre, Seetec and Ingneus for their work in getting people back into employment."

Mr Halfon, who holds an annual jobs fair in the town, also pointed to the number of apprenticeships created by Government investments as a reason for the drop.

"Every year I hold a jobs fair and I have been encouraged by the many jobs on offer," he added. "I also welcome the huge Government investment in apprenticeships which have risen in Harlow by 84 per cent in the past year."

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

He added: "Harlow is open for business with new jobs and investment with a new Aldi store and a Poundland warehouse shortly to open. "We still have a long way to go but at least the Government's economic policies are getting people back into jobs."

Suzi Stride, Labour's Parliamentary candidate for Harlow, warned that not enough was being done to address what she described as the cost-of-living crisis.

"I welcome the fall in unemployment but the Government must not be complacent," she said. "More than 900,000 young people are still unemployed and over 250,000 young people have been unemployed for over a year."

"Long-term youth unemployment has more than doubled since the general election and although things have improved in the last few months there's still a long way to go."

"Not enough is being done to address the cost-of-living crisis that is affecting Harlow residents. More people in poverty are now in work than are out of work which is why Harlow Council is now paying all of its workers a living wage."

THE managing director of Sawbridgeworth-based home care provider Caremark is looking to build a strong relationship within the community.

Kate Brewis, who has more than 20 years of experience in health and social care as well as being a volunteer for Marie Curie, brought the East Herts territory of Caremark with plans to provide a tailor-made service.

"I believe it is paramount to get the care right for the individual and provide a first class service, tailor-made to meet each client's needs," said Mrs Brewis, pictured above (second right) with members of her team and

Home care provider focuses on community relationships

Sawbridgeworth mayor Cllr Angela Alder.

"I am committed to building a team of carers who are trained to the highest standard and who share my vision of improving standards of care for the future."

Caremark provides a service that enables clients to remain in the comfort of their own home and receive regular visits and services suited to their personal needs.

Part of Mrs Brewis' plan is to change attitudes to care and help relieve the stress of caring on families and individuals.

"The trouble is a lot of people in the community think 'it's not my problem'. We want to change that by building strong relationships in the community for people who live on their own and for families that have a relative they care for."

Caremark is based at Matheson House in Cambridge Road, Sawbridgeworth. For more information call (01279) 600675 or visit www.caremark.co.uk/locations/east-hertfordshire.

Hygiene improvements

TWO Harlow eateries have cause for celebration after improving their hygiene ratings.

Kingsmoor Chinese Takeaway, in Kingsmoor Road, and Marina Fish Bar, at Old Harlow, have both achieved level three in the food hygiene rating measured by Harlow Council and the Food Standards Agency.

Both businesses - now deemed 'generally satisfactory' - were reinspected last month and have improved on their previous zero rating.

Harlow Council works with the FSA to rate every outlet in the town which handles food, including schools, hospitals, and retailers.

Business workshops

ANGLIA Ruskin University has developed a series of workshops specifically for businesses across the town.

Experts from the university will be coming together at the university's Harlow College campus to discuss small and medium enterprises, new business ideas and how to support businesses through advice, training and accessing funding.

The free workshops run from 8.30-10.30am with the next workshop held at the Velizy Avenue University Centre on March 14. For more information, contact 0845 1964620 or email harlowbussupport@anglia.ac.uk.

Fundraising continues as work starts on Scouts hut

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A SCOUT group whose hut was destroyed in an arson attack two years ago has renewed its appeal for funds to build a replacement.

The 7th Harlow Scouts have started work on the new hut at Manor Hatch Close. Once it is finished it will provide a permanent meeting place for scores of Scouts, Cubs and Beavers.

But despite a successful fundraising campaign, the group still need more cash to finish the work.

So far it has managed to raise more than £70,000 with a 'Buy a Brick' campaign which gives individuals and companies the chance to purchase a brick for £5 that will be used in the building.

Around 50 past and present members of the group as well as parents attended a meeting last week at which they were given an update on progress and discussed developing both a five-year and 10-year plan for the new building.

Among the issues which were discussed were how best to fund the remaining work, how to form a group committee and how to capitalise on using 'green' energy.

Scout leader Harry Tennison said: "We now have a clear pathway of what the group members feel is best for the group."

"What we have to do now is go away and make sure we can implement this to ensure our young people continue on the adventure which is Scouting with an enormous smile on their faces."

Work on the new building continues despite the recent bad weather and the group is now appealing to local tradesmen willing to help by volunteering their services.

"The new building will be a home for all of us and we want to see as many people involved as possible," said Mr Tennison.

Denise Dalby said: "The fire destroyed everything, nothing could be rescued."

"It has been a long fight over the past few years with a lot of paperwork and fundraising to make sure we could get to this stage."

DIGGING IN: Work is under way on building a new Scout hut to replace the one destroyed by fire, inset

Forthcoming fundraising events include abseiling down the Church Langley water tower, a clothing collection and a group of former leaders taking on the Three Peaks Challenge, climbing the three highest mountains in England, Scotland and Wales in 24 hours.

Man threatened to bite off cop's nose after claiming he had HIV

A MAN who claimed he had HIV and threatened to bite off a police officer's nose has been spared jail.

Ajit Singh, 35, of Taylifers, Harlow, made five phone calls to police containing "abusive" messages, Chelmsford Magistrates Court was told.

After being arrested he was placed in a police cell in which he urinated and defecated, smearing the spyhole with faeces.

Singh pleaded guilty to making telephone calls which were threatening to Essex Police and damaging a custody cell at Harlow police station, both on 15 January. He also admitted assaulting a pub employee and three charges of assaulting police officers.

Emma Howson, prosecuting, said that on January 15 Singh made a number of abusive telephone calls to police. When officers went to his home he answered the door with a phone in his hand and told them: "I'm just phoning you back again."

Singh was arrested and while being taken to Harlow Police Station he told an officer: "I'm going to bite your nose off. I've got HIV, would you get it?"

Ms Howson added: "Placed in a police cell, he defecated and urinated and smeared the spyhole, which cost £120 to clean up."

Referring to the assault charges, Ms Howson said Singh was arrested at Bishopsgate in London for punching a pub worker in the face on January 29. When he was arrested he "bared his teeth and lunged at a police officer".

Singh was released on bail but when he returned to Bishopsgate Police Station on February 18 he threw food and coffee at two City of London police officers.

Gabrielle Heaney, representing Singh, said in mitigation: "The key matter at the heart of the problem is Mr Singh's alcohol problem, which is very extensive and the root of all his behaviour."

Singh was given a 22-week jail sentence suspended for 18 months and ordered to attend aggression replacement and alcohol treatment programmes.

Swing into action for our golfing charity classic

OVER the course of 14 years from 1993, the Charity Golf Classic – staged by Star publisher Herts & Essex Newspapers – was an unmissable part of the local golfing calendar, raising more than £200,000 for local charities.

Now, after a gap of eight years, it's back. And we are delighted to announce that all the proceeds of the comeback event will go to the £30,000 Grove Cottage Holiday Appeal being run by our sister paper, the Bishop's Stortford Observer.

The appeal is to enable the home of Mencap in Bishop's Stortford to send children with learning disabilities on exciting day trips and will fund a residential trip to Cornwall for adults with learning disabilities.

The Charity Golf Classic will be held on Monday, September 8 at its traditional home, in the beautiful surroundings of one of Hertfordshire's most picturesque and high-quality courses, the parkland setting of East Herts Golf Club at Hamels Park, near Buntingford.

The course, which is currently accepting new members, was founded in 1899 and is one of the oldest in the area.

It is renowned throughout Hertfordshire for its magnificent ancient trees set in tranquil, rolling parkland around Hamels Mansion.

We are looking for 40 teams of four golfers, teeing off at 10-minute intervals from 7.30am to 2pm.

The tournament will be played to Stableford rules – men off three-quarters handicap, ladies off full – with the best two scores on each hole counting.

There will be prizes for nearest the pin on all the par threes, the longest drive and leading lady – who will be the one who contributes the most points to a team's score on the day – and a separate putting competition.

Entry fee per team is £300, and hole sponsorship for teams is available for £100 a hole. Hole sponsorship for those not entering a team is £150. The entry fee includes coffee and bacon on arrival and three-course buffet lunch.

Event organiser Gary Matthews said: "I'm delighted that the Classic is returning after all these years. It was a wonderful event that raised so much money for local charities and the Grove Cottage Holiday Appeal is another truly worthwhile cause."

"We have only 40 team places up for grabs and I shall be allocating spaces on a first come, first served basis, so it is important that teams get their entries in as quickly as they can to avoid missing out."

To enter, simply complete the entry form and send it, together with full payment, to Gary at the address shown. Don't miss out, enter today!

Grateful thanks to our sponsors

A MAJOR sponsor has been secured for this year's Charity Golf Classic, who will be providing prizes for the top six teams, longest drive and nearest the pin on all par 3 holes. We would also like to thank Fore Street Employment Agency, and particularly its director, Viv Debnam, who will be providing welcome packs for all the golfers. Fore Street was a stalwart supporter of the original tournament and we are delighted the company is on board again. Our putting competition sponsor is Supply Cover UK, which supplies teachers for nursery, primary and secondary education in Hertfordshire and Essex. Our thanks to company director David Hares for his support.

Detectives appeal to find owner of 'stolen' jewellery

POLICE searching for the owners of several items of jewellery which they believe were stolen and then dumped at two locations in Harlow have released these pictures.

The first batch was recovered in an alleyway and wooded area at Finchmoor while the second was found on a cycle path in Woodcroft.

The pieces include gold rings, necklaces, pendants, earrings, a brooch and two pairs of cufflinks.

One of each of the two pairs of cufflinks was found at both locations, leading police to believe they all came from the same source.

Officers suspect the jewellery was stolen in a burglary but have so far not been able to match the pieces to any known break-in at this time.

Anyone who recognises the items should call Detective Constable Ann-Marie Pitcher at Harlow CID on the non-emergency 101 number.

Court ban for dog owner guilty of animal neglect

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ANIMAL welfare officers acting on a tip-off from a member of the public found a dog with one of its legs covered in ulcerated tissue and rotting flesh, a court heard.

The dog's owner - care assistant Anita Jennings, 44, of Hare Street Springs, Harlow - was given a 12-week suspended jail sentence after pleading guilty to three offences of neglecting the animal. She was also banned from owning any more dogs for a minimum of 10 years.

Prosecutor Stuart Cooper told Chelmsford Magistrates Court the RSPCA was contacted by a member of the public because the dog - which was called Bruno, pictured right - was rarely seen outside.

RSPCA inspector Steve Reeve visited Jennings' home on October 8 and saw an elderly rottweiler with an obvious large growth on its right paw. "The nails on that paw were so long they had curled around in a complete circle," he said.

The dog was taken away to be examined by a vet but had to be put down.

Mr Cooper continued: "The post-mortem showed Bruno had a very obvious, patently obvious, large malignant tumour on his right leg. It was covered in dead tissue as well as ulcerated tissue. In other words the flesh was rotting it was so bad.

"The tumour was so large it reached right through the leg to both bones in that leg and had started to spread to other parts of the body. It had been there for some time and spread considerably. The claws would have taken a minimum of 15 weeks to reach that situation."

When interviewed, Jennings - a single mother of two grown-up children - said the dog had been in that condition for several months. She initially obtained a 10-day course of antibiotics from a vet but did not follow it up because of her financial circumstances.

She added she had wanted to put him to sleep but could not afford the vet fees of £200. The prosecutor said euthanasia usually cost £30 and the vet Jennings mentioned had since closed down.

The court was told the RSPCA inspector also saw two cats at Jennings' home, both of which were in reasonable health.

Jennings admitted causing unnecessary suffering to the animal between March 20 and September 20 last year by failing to provide proper vet care for Bruno in respect of lameness and the ulcerated mass. She also admitted failing to take reasonable steps to ensure the needs of Bruno by not routinely clipping his claws or to investigating why he was underweight.

Lorna Glover, representing Jennings, said in mitigation the defendant had not deliberately caused pain and suffering, adding: "She simply didn't have the money to pay for vet treatment."

She said that Jennings had tried to cut Bruno's claws but he growled at her so she stopped.

Jennings and her husband had taken in Bruno as a rescue dog four years previously. It was her husband's pet but when he left her the dog stayed with the family.

"The reality is that Jennings could not cope with the dog," said Miss Glover. "The amount and level of care and attention and money and responsibility which he needed she simply couldn't give him and there's an element of turning a blind eye to his medical needs which exacerbated over time."

She said that although Jennings worked full-time as a care assistant there was little spare money.

"She works in a caring profession," said Miss Glover. "This is not indicative of how she normally lives her life. She is desperately sorry for what happened to Bruno."

Speaking after the case, RSPCA inspector Stephen Reeves said: "No animal should have to go for that length of time without getting treatment. Unfortunately, Bruno would have been in great pain."

New Football Traineeships Harlow Town FC

What is a Traineeship?

Traineeships are a new Government programme designed to prepare young people for their future careers. The traineeship lasts between six weeks to six months depending on the individual's needs.

Who is delivering the training?

Adult Community Learning (Essex County Council) and OM Sports Academy are working in partnership with Harlow Town Football Club

Who should apply?

This opportunity is open to young people aged 16-18, who are qualified below Level 3 (A-levels or equivalent). It is suitable for those who are unemployed (or work less than 16 hours a week), have little work experience but are motivated to gain work or an apprenticeship.

TO APPLY

Call: 01376 534775

email: trainingforbusiness@essex.gov.uk

More information can be found here

www.apprenticeships.org.uk/partners/traineeshipresources.aspx

Design: greytymedia.com

Building a Brighter Future

What is involved in a Traineeship?

The traineeship will be based at Harlow Town Football Club and include:

- work preparation training
- work experience in the football club
- English and maths

Trainees will gain an insight into the roles needed to work in a football club, such as playing, coaching, marketing, customer service, hospitality and facilities management. During the programme, trainees will be supported and given advice and guidance on how to find jobs with training or an apprenticeship. Trainees will also be given an exit interview and reference.

WIN Tickets to Joe McElderry at Harlow Playhouse

JOE McElderry has soared from X Factor golden boy to national treasure after crooning his way into the heart of the nation.

Now the sweet singing sensation with the boyish charm is taking his 24-carat voice on tour with his 2014 Set Your Soul Alive nationwide tour which arrives in Harlow on Thursday, March 13.

And this week we are giving you the chance to win a pair of tickets to his show at The Playhouse. The runner-up will receive an autographed shirt and teddy bear.

Since storming to victory in front of millions of fans on the TV talent show, Joe has matured into one of the country's most polished and popular singing stars. Last year he performed to sell-out, spell-bound audiences with fans dancing in the aisles and giving him a thunderous reception.

Joe takes his audience on a singing, emotional rollercoaster, moving effortlessly from heart warming romantic ballads to tragic arias. Laughter, love and tears lie at the very heart of this show.

His debut single The Climb

rocketed to number one and his album, Classic, went gold within two weeks. He is also the first X Factor winner to release four albums.

But it's as a live performer where his charismatic performance lights up the stage and packs theatres. And his four-piece backing band, made up from some of the best musicians in the business, compliment him perfectly.

A Joe McElderry show has that truly enigmatic sprinkling of something special which makes it a superb and memorable family occasion – a song for every generation.

For a chance to win tickets to the show all you have to do is answer this simple question:

What was the title of the single with which Joe topped the UK charts after winning X Factor?

You can email your answer to competitions@hertsessexnews.co.uk making sure you put 'Star Joe McElderry' in the subject line. Alternatively, enter online at www.harlowstar.co.uk/Whats-On-Leisure and follow the entry instructions. The closing date for entries is Tuesday, March 4.

Switch on to other ways of saving yourself money

THOSE of you who read the Star regularly will know that some utility companies are ripping their customers off by charging them extra if they do not pay their utility bills by direct debit.

When looking into this problem, I found that people who do not use direct debit pay on average £114 per year more. These charges are excessive and hit the poor, vulnerable, and elderly the hardest.

I recently held a Parliamentary debate on this issue and the energy minister said he would be asking Ofgem to look into whether these charges are fair. I also proposed a law which could cap the amount that energy companies would be able to charge customers who choose not to pay by direct debit.

As a result, First Utility - Britain's biggest independent energy provider - has agreed to drop its charges from £96 per year to a more reasonable £2 per month.

But there are also other ways that Harlow residents can save money. One way is by switching energy provider. Figures from Ofgem show that 70 per cent of people who switched energy providers last year saved money.

This is why I am working with comparethemarket.com to promote their Great British Switch Weekend which will take place on March 15-16. It will allow consumers to switch energy companies without any penalty and already some big companies have agreed to it. I would encourage all Harlow residents to consider switching providers to get a better deal.

The Government is also taking action to cut bills such as forcing energy companies to put people on the lowest tariffs, providing a rebate to every customer and giving discounts and financial support to those on low incomes to help them pay their bills.

As readers will know, I have been fighting hard to protect youth services in Harlow and I am grateful for the help of all of the political parties.

In Parliament I raised the issue with ministers and tabled a Commons Motion. I also had two meetings with Eric Pickles, the Secretary of State for Local Government, and the Leader of Essex Council.

The good news is that youth services in Harlow will be protected and spending on services across Essex will increase by £1m. All youth centres will remain open, including the Youth Hub in Harlow, and I will push for some of the extra funding to be used to regenerate it.

I pay tribute to Harlow Youth Council and youth workers for their campaign and for showing that when Harlow comes together it makes a big difference.

There is however a real worry about redundancies, although I am not yet aware of any details. The youth workers in Harlow are exceptional and Essex Council should do everything possible to keep them as we do not want to lose their valued expertise.

Since 2010 I have been fighting hard to improve railway journeys for commuters by having regular meetings with Greater Anglia.

During a recent Parliamentary debate I raised commuters' concerns over areas such as the lack of facilities at Harlow Mill station and called for it to be refurbished. I also asked for longer trains to be introduced in order to decrease overcrowding and for the Oyster card system to be extended into Harlow.

Greater Anglia has been voted joint worst train service by commuters in the country and this is unacceptable. I have written to them to ask for an explanation of what they are doing to help commuters and I am seeking an urgent meeting.

Thank you to those people who completed the survey about the M11 Junction 7a that I have sent to nearly every home in Harlow. The good news is that the consultation has been extended to March 17 so please keep sending your responses in.

I will be sure to represent your views to Essex Council so that we can make sure we get the best option for Harlow.

Turtlely tired

A BABY sea turtle, which was washed ashore in the storms on a Welsh beach, is recovering at Bristol Aquarium.

The tiny loggerhead turtle, which has been nicknamed 'Stormy' and measures just 17cm in length, was spotted stranded by a member of the public at Freshwater West in Pembrokeshire.

The man, who was out with his family looking at a fossilised forest which had been exposed by the rough seas, found the stricken turtle on the strandline.

Realising the animal was close to death he contacted a local animal rescue group and it was transported to Bristol Aquarium.

"It's extremely fortunate he was found alive as loggerheads simply would not be able to survive for any length of time in British waters," said Bristol Aquarium's David Wines.

Loggerhead turtles are rare in UK waters but their numbers, along with other warm water species do seem to be on the rise.

Most loggerheads are born along the coast of Mexico and Florida although there are separate populations in the Mediterranean and the Middle East.

Council reveals route of Tour de France in Essex

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DETAILS of the route the Tour de Force will take when it passes through Essex this summer have been released by the county council this week.

The competitors will travel through the districts Uttlesford, Braintree, Chelmsford and Epping Forest on Monday, July 7 as part of the third stage of the race.

It will pass over the M11 between junctions 7 (Harlow) and 6 (M25) before heading through Epping on its way to east London.

The county council is currently working with a range of partners to ensure the race passes off smoothly, including experts who were involved in the delivery of the traffic and crowd management plans for the London 2012 Olympics.

On Tuesday it published a district-by-district guide of the route the race will follow as well as times for road closures. In the Epping Forest district stretch these will be from 8am-5pm.

The county council has given early warning that the route will need to be cleared of all public vehicles prior to the scheduled closure times. Pedestrian access will be maintained during the period of road closures through stewarded crossing points.

A county council spokesman said the length of time roads will be closed was necessary to allow the route to be prepared, infrastructure to be put in place and removed, the tour's publicity caravan of vehicles to travel through the stage and the safe dispersal of spectators.

County councillor Ann Naylor, cabinet member for public health and wellbeing, said: "Monday, July 7 will be a celebration of cycling in Essex. It's with real pride that we will welcome the world's elite sporting cyclists."

"This will be an amazing and unforgettable spectacle against the backdrop of our beautiful rural and urban county. This unique event can't fail to inspire even more people to take to their own bikes to get around or explore the sport of cycling."

TAET Chesterton has been working non-stop in the hope that one day she will hit the big time.

The 16-year-old, who has been singing for as long as she can remember, is now working to release her first EP.

"I have always loved singing," said Taet, who lives at Church Langley. "When I was about eight or nine years old I was part of all the pantos at The Playhouse. I just love it."

At the age of 10 Taet auditioned for Sylvia Young Theatre School.

"I was getting up at 6am to go to school and not getting home until after 6pm and just working really, really hard."

"Sylvia Young was hard but I just thought everyone there wanted to do the same thing as me so it just made me want to work even harder. Everyone wants to be successful so it was just about working hard all the time to do well there."

"Being pushed at the school and working hard from 10 means I now have a really good work ethic."

Taet lives with her parents - Rod and Julie - and 22-year-old brother Connor, who is a hairdresser. But Taet says it's just her with the musical gene.

"Everybody always asks me if I got it from anyone but none of my family are musical. My mum is an accountant and my dad is a printer - nobody in my family does any sort of performing arts like singing or acting or musical theatre so I'm not sure where I've got it from really."

Taet has just graduated from Sylvia Young and has won a place at the Institute of Contemporary Music in London.

"I just like the energy that singing gives me, it is always fun," she explained. "I like all genres of music, especially pop and R'n'B but I listen to all types music."

"I want to be successful and do something I

How hard work is helping Taet make her dreams come true

TALENTED teenager Taet Chesterton has been working towards making her dream come true since she was just eight years old. Now she is working in the studio and putting together her first EP. Reporter BIANCA CASTRO talks to the singing starlet.

love and to be able to make a living out of it."

Budding songwriter Taet performs her own music as well as writing for other artists.

"I do write my own stuff and I write songs about everything. I also write with others and for other people who are upcoming artists. I listen to stories from other people and listen to stuff when I'm out and can then write songs based on that."

Taet is determined to succeed, even though she has had to make sacrifices. "Obviously I have missed out on things because I'm working which is annoying, but my friends and family all understand the situation and my friends are all doing similar things to me so they understand."

"My family are all really supportive of me. My grandparents always say when I'm older and successful I can buy them a bungalow which is nice. They're all really proud of me."

When she does get free time, Taet loves going shopping and spending time with her friends.

"When I'm not working, I'm just chilling with my friends. As I go to college in London we go to London a lot and just do normal things - shopping, go round each other's houses - just things that any teenager would be doing."

With a busy few months ahead, Taet is excited about what the future might hold. "I am excited about the future. I am very much a believer of what will be, will be. I'm working really hard but I guess we'll see what the future holds."

"My dream is to be successful and to be successful doing something I love. You hear people all the time say that they hate their jobs or they don't want to go to work because they don't enjoy it. I don't want that."

Taet's YouTube channel, which has all her videos on, is 'taetcmusic'. In the next few months she will be performing gigs in both Camden and Shoreditch.

Hospice van found hours after theft

DESPAIR turned to delight for staff at St Clare Hospice after their van was recovered by police just hours after it had been stolen from the hospice car park.

The Hastingwood-based charity was inundated with messages of support after it announced the theft on social media websites Facebook and Twitter.

The Bedford van - easily identifiable thanks to the St Clare logo and branding - was missing when staff arrived for work on Tuesday morning.

CCTV footage revealed the vehicle had been driven out of the hospice gates and towards the M11 interchange shortly after 11pm the previous night.

Within hours of the news of the theft breaking on the charity's Facebook page, almost 200 people had shared the post and several sightings were reported in Nazeing.

The van, which is in use six days a week, makes about 10 trips a day delivering and collecting furniture and other goods which are bought and sold in seven of the hospice shops.

Chief executive Tanya Curry said: "We are delighted that the van has been recovered but as a local charity we are gutted that anyone would target the hospice, especially to come onto the St Clare site under the cover of darkness to steal our van."

"Our van drivers provide a first-class service and without it it would not be possible to collect the unwanted furniture and other items that the public kindly donate to us to sell in our shops, helping us generate the vital income we need to continue providing our skilled and compassionate care to people living with a terminal or life-limiting illness in our community."

"We just hope the culprits are caught and made to understand the impact their actions have had on our charity."

Anyone with information about the theft is asked to contact Essex Police on the non-emergency 101 number, quoting crime reference CF0153600214.

The Guide

gigs at the square

FRIDAY Essex pub rock legends Eddie & The Hot Rods, return to Harlow. With hot young stars like The Strypes citing them as a major influence, there's never been a better time to check out one of the bands that started the pub rock movement. Hailing from Southend-on-Sea, they hit the top 10 in 1977 with the punk rock anthem Do Anything You Wanna Do. Recently taking in an arena tour with Status Quo, and regular shows with Dr Feelgood, Wilko Johnson and Nine Below Zero, The Rods are just at home in a small sweaty club as they are on the big stages. Supporting them are The Dying Shames. Doors open at 8pm and tickets are £7 in advance.

SATURDAY Cypher16 are a hugely talented, innovative organic rock band, who fuse electronic and metal influences with hints of industrial to create their own unique musical mix. They will be supported by Trash Monroe and Attenborough. Doors open at 8pm and admission is £6 in advance (£5 members).

LAST year metal-meets-grime hybrid Hacktivist went from new city favourites to being hotly tipped on the national scene.

The band toured the UK, Russia and Germany with Enter Shikari, and wowed festival audiences at Reading, Rock Am Ring, T In The Park, Warped and Download.

As the year wound down, they wrapped things up with a sold-out show at Camden's Underworld. And while 2014 has yet to warm up, Hacktivist are already sizzling.

As you read this they are in the decidedly sunnier climes of Australia, and in the coming days will shake the foundations of Brisbane, Sydney and Melbourne on the Soundwave festival billing.

Then its back to the UK as they head to Wales for a gig as support to Skindred before embarking on a tour of the UK which will bring to The Square on March 21.

After that it will be back into the studio to start work on their debut album followed by a tour supporting heavy metal megastars Korn, which will see them grace the stage of Brixton Academy, before heading off to Denmark, France and the Netherlands.

Describing their music singer Ben Marvin told the Star: "I would say listen, try to work out how it sounds. But I guess the closest comparison would be a mix of groovy metal with grime and hip-hop vocals."

>> Hacktivist supported by Black Polarix and Far From History perform at The Square on March 21. Doors open at 8pm and tickets cost £7 in advance.

A tale of two cellos

JULIAN Lloyd Webber is one of the finest musicians of his generation. He is in great demand throughout the world and enjoys one of the most creative and successful careers in classical music today.

Together with his wife - fellow cellist Jiaxin Lloyd Webber - they are currently on a tour during which they feature world premiere performances of duets for two cellos with piano, as well as music from the great composers across the classical spectrum including Vivaldi, Dvorák, Bach, Rachmaninov and Saint-Saëns.

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertssexnews.co.uk

They embarked on the tour last month after a critically-acclaimed performance at the Cadogan Hall in Chelsea in December. The tour ends at Harlow Playhouse on Sunday, March 9.

Julian - brother of theatre mogul Lord Andrew Lloyd Webber - has worked tirelessly to expand the cello repertoire and has now extended that vision to repertoire for two cellos featured in this show.

Appearing alongside Julian and Jiaxin on piano will be Pam Chowha.

The concerts offer audiences the chance to experience the intimate musical world of one of the greatest classical musicians of our time as he and Jiaxin perform heartfelt and wonderful compositions.

>> Tickets for A Tale of Two Cellos at Harlow Playhouse on March 9 are priced from £21-£26. For more details or to book, call the theatre box office on (01279) 431945 or visit the website at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Gallery launches its own version of Tate Modern

HARLOW has its very own version of Tate Modern set up by the Gatehouse Arts residents at both the Eastgate and Westgate studio complex.

The Gate Modern exhibition runs until March 15 and features a range of works including Raphael Sagage's impressionistic and colourful oil paintings, the paintings and installation works of Freya Boittler and a series of animated digital art from Wellington Kapswara.

Harlow artist and volunteer Jim Brown, pictured, who is co-curator of the exhibition, said: "This is voluntary run. We had funding in the first instance a few years ago when it was first set up, but it was only an initial sum that soon vanished. The idea is that we are self-sustainable."

As well as hosting the event, Mr Brown also has some of his own work on display.

"I look out of the window a lot, at the forms and geometry and absorb all the shapes around us and then

I make them," he explained.

Mr Brown creates symbolic sculptures that stand up almost like totem poles and uses photography and animation to add colour and life to the structures.

"They're vertical but they can just as easily be arranged as components.

There are slightly personified in the sense they've got slightly half recognisable head forms.

"A lot of them can be translated as head, torso and leg area. I'm happy about that. It's not to have them personified as more figurative."

>> The Gate Modern runs until March 15 and admission is free. The galleries are open on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays between 11am and 4.30pm.

Importance of a touch of texture

ITALIAN garden designer Luciano Giubbilei is famous for his creations of understated elegance, simple and clean symmetrical design complimented by his use of nature, materials, light, space and art.

His style is modern but uses formal approaches and clipped plants, while his designs are dominated by trees, hedges and grasses, with frequent repeat planting – and there is an all-important texture to all his gardens too.

"Texture is not something that we just look at, it's something that we experience," Giubbilei explains. "Certain surfaces make you observe where you are going to be walking, for example. Smooth surfaces are easy to walk on, which will encourage you to look further afield to observe a space more in depth."

Texture isn't solely focused on the physical feel of something, he continues.

"Texture is associated with emotion. The way we experience space isn't just visual."

He has used this vision to create the Laurent-Perrier show garden at this year's RHS Chelsea Flower show, comprising a simple geometric layout juxtaposed with detail which explores the contrasting concepts of stillness and movement, elegance and rawness.

The walls of concrete and metal combine lustres and materials; the stone surfaces are executed with contrasting finishes; the flow and reflection of the water gives light and animation to the space. The planting features delicate forms alongside bolder architectural leaves – providing a colour spectrum of yellows, creams and whites, punctuated by accents of blue, with a backdrop of deep green foliage.

A strong wooden sculpture designed by highly acclaimed American artist Ursula von Rydingsvard will also contribute to the garden's exploration of texture.

He insists you don't need designers of the highest level to make texture work though, and says it can be created in any garden, even the smallest space.

"If I just had a patio and I wanted to create texture, the only thing I need is one beautiful tree. That would create the texture."

Choose patio plants carefully to create different textures. Cluster groups of pots together combining clipped evergreens with more fluid plants such as ferns. He favours predominantly green schemes, but these could be enhanced with the inclusion of pots of bulbs such as Tulipa 'Belle Epoch', with double flowers in shades of coffee mousse, flushed with pink.

In a wider space, placing clipped plants such as box or beech hedging next to wilder varieties such as ferns, which are softer and less uniform, will create an effective contrast of stillness and movement.

"People can create a mood in their garden using green, big-leaved plants such as hostas, ligularia and darmera (umbrella plant), which give you weight in a border. That weight also creates a certain feeling of calm."

In the Laurent-Perrier garden, the hard materials include a concrete wall, a cedar wood sculpture with a backdrop of concrete.

Giubbilei adds how he believes in the use of straight lines in his designs. "For me, the straight line has an honesty about it but the curve is trying to mimic. You never have to see a straight line. It can be perfectly hidden with planting on the very edge of the line."

■ The RHS Chelsea Flower Show runs from May 20-24.

Wartime tale of survival and resilience

THE BOOK THIEF
certificate 12A, 2h11m

DEATH haunts every frame of Brian Percival's wartime drama.

The Grim Reaper (voiced by Roger Allam) is the mellifluous narrator of this beautifully crafted story of courage and determination during the Second World War, based on the international bestseller of the same name by Markus Zusak.

Unseen until the final frames, the shadowy figure casts an unsentimental eye over characters in the midst of bitter and bloody conflict.

"The only truth that I truly know is that I am haunted by humans," he confides. In particular, Death is haunted by a girl called Liesel Meminger (Sophie Nelisse).

As tensions escalate across Europe, Liesel bids a tearful farewell to her Communist mother (Heike Makatsch) and is delivered into the care of foster parents Hans and Rosa Hubermann (Geoffrey Rush, Emily Watson).

With encouragement from Hans, Liesel learns to read and develops a voracious appetite for books which is sated in secret by the mayor's wife Ilsa (Barbara Auer) who owns a vast library of texts, many of which would go up in flames at one of the Nazis' book-burning ceremonies.

Liesel hides these visits from everyone, including her neighbour and good friend Rudy Steiner (Nico Liersch), who proudly enrols in the Hitler Youth movement.

One night, a Jewish refugee called Max Vandenburg (Ben Schnetzer) arrives at the Hubermanns' home and they offer him shelter in the basement.

Liesel becomes complicit in Max's concealment. However, when school bully Franz Deutscher (Levin Liam) overhears Liesel confessing her secret to Rudy, it seems that Max's grim fate is sealed.

Intercut with Death's words of wisdom, The Book Thief is a handsome and poignant drama that compels us to care about the heroine as she risks her life to protect the people she loves from annihilation.

Nelisse is an endearing screen presence, whose innocence provides a glimmer of light during the darkness of the film's tense and harrowing moments. She gels splendidly with Rush as the man of principle with a heart of gold, and Watson is imperious in opening scenes as an iron-fisted matriarch who, as Hans puts it, "isn't as strong as she looks."

John Williams's Oscar-nominated score resonates loud and clear and is complemented by excellent production design and costumes that evoke the turbulent period between 1938 and 1942.

Like Death, we too are haunted by Liesel and her incredible journey, which lingers in the memory long after the curtain falls on Percival's impressive picture.

US Federal Air Marshal Bill Marks (Liam Neeson) boards a busy international flight from New York to London. But as the aircraft reaches cruising altitude he receives a series of bizarre and threatening text messages demanding the airline transfers a ransom of $150m into an off-shore account.

Failure to comply will result in one passenger on the flight being killed every 20 minutes.

The threats turn out to be genuine and everyone on board becomes a suspect. While Captain David McMillan (Linus Roache) and his crew attempt to maintain calm in the claustrophobic aircraft, Marks searches for answers.

However, his gun-ho one-man crusade is hampered when authorities discover that the bank account is registered under his name and Marks is branded a terrorist.

HIGH school security guard and videogame junkie Ben Barber (Kevin Hart) has been romancing his girlfriend Angela (Tika Sumpter) for two years.

Her brother James (Ice Cube), a highly decorated detective in the Atlanta Police Department, thinks Ben unworthy of Angela's affection, which throws a spanner in the works of Ben's intention to propose.

In order to prove himself, Ben applies to join the police academy and, against the odds, he is accepted. Unfortunately, James is unimpressed and concocts a cunning plan to get Ben out of his life forever by inviting the unsuspecting rookie along on a 24-hour patrol of the city with the intention of throwing his partner into explosive situations that will end in humiliation.

The plan works a treat until Ben's nerdy videogame knowledge uncovers a clue that could lead to the most notorious criminal in Atlanta.

Aries 21 March - 20 April
The Moon's connection with a dynamic T-Square as the week begins, can pave the way for a decision or even a U-turn. If you've been looking for ways to improve your life, this blend of energies might push you to consider a new direction. Later, social opportunities look livelier, with a chance to make a new friend or connect with a potential love interest. Call for more...

Libra 24 Sept - 23 Oct
While a sociable trend puts leisure, pleasure and relationships on your agenda, someone's unasked for opinions could stir up your feelings. Whatever the scenario, you may be tempted to compromise. Yet, in this instance, standing up for your viewpoint might give a future warning. Later in the week, someone can become more than just a friend. Call for more astral advice...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
Putting words to feelings might be hard, especially as this week's influences involve a powerful configuration that amps up the tension. Yet, if a problem has continually evaded you, Jupiter's forward motion may bring clarity, settling you on the right track. On another note, a heart-to-heart could prove very healing, in the right circumstances. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Scorpio 24 Oct - 22 Nov
Your daily schedule could be unsettled, so some form of improvisation may be necessary. Yet, there could be a deeper issue at work, as certain activities might have outlived their usefulness. If so, it can be time for a rethink. The domestic scene can also appeal as Venus glides into Aquarius. Experimental cooking and fun entertainment may be on your personal menu. Call me for more...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
As Venus joins Mercury in Aquarius, flights of fancy may set you thinking of travel plans or the enjoyment of studying a subject that completely absorbs you. Indeed, scheduling time for personal pleasures this week, can give you a new lease of life. Finances can also show a gradual upswing, helping you to feel more relaxed in this regard. Call for your financial scope in full...

Sagittarius 23 Nov - 21 Dec
Your ability to sell an idea could be at a peak, as your naturally curious nature might involve you with those who are interested in your take on things. Information gathering could also be required if you need to make a key decision. Meanwhile, Venus amps up your fun loving personality by encouraging more fun, sociability and entertainment. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
The Quarter Moon in Gemini, suggests that progress may be at a critical stage. Be clear about what you want, and the path to getting it can be swifter. Meanwhile, intense emotions could have something to communicate, channeling them through art or even journaling, could help you understand and express yourself more easily. Call me now for more news and astral advice...

Capricorn 22 Dec - 20 Jan
Decision time may be coming up, as this week's Sun Pluto connection might coincide with a turning point and a chance for change. There's more too, as Jupiter pushes forward, enhancing relationship potential within your love and social life. If a budding romance has been dragging its heels, you could soon see more action. Call me now Capricorn for your love scope in full...

Leo 24 July - 23 Aug
The joy of teamwork and a desire to mix and mingle, might enhance your social life and live up a key relationship too. Along with this, a focus on dreaming and deepening your soul connection could intensify. The potential for "ah ha" moments from this week, can encourage you to follow your star and commit to your unique calling in life. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Aquarius 21 Jan - 19 Feb
A brainwave might encourage a change of plan, and though life could get hectic as a result, it could save time and money in the long-term. Feelings may be energized too, as Venus enters your sign engaging your passion and uplifting your mood. It's very possible that your connection with a certain person can develop a greater warmth and closeness. Call me for more advice...

Virgo 24 Aug - 23 Sept
A desire for change can see you acting on impulse, Virgo. Try to balance a potentially rebellious streak with an earthy appreciation of consequences. On another note, a friend's knack for perceiving subtleties could be a source of comfort and inspiration. However, opportunities for you to give advice and support are also at work. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Pisces 20 Feb - 20 March
Listen to your sixth sense regarding a big purchase. If the expense concerns you, maybe you should leave well alone for now. On another note, letting people in on your hopes and dreams, could mean that a friend or acquaintance can help you achieve one of them. Yet, if a relationship has been treading water, you may reflect hard on what to do. Call for your financial forecast...

THIS week's cover property has to be seen to be believed. Once you step inside you'll realise just how much care and attention has gone into the décor.

The house in Paddock Mead, Harlow, is beautifully presented and the rear extension has helped to create extra space in this delightful family home.

Step through the front door into the entrance hall and you will notice the turned staircase to the first floor and contemporary style radiator. There are doors leading off to a cloakroom, the lounge and kitchen/diner.

The lounge has a double glazed window to the front, two contemporary style radiators, recessed display shelving with downlights and a glass block wall feature.

The L-shaped kitchen/diner has double glazed French doors to the side and a range of matching wall and base units with an integrated fridge/freezer. Other features include granite worktops, a breakfast bar and mood lighting.

Moving upstairs, the loft can be accessed from the landing where there are doors off to the three bedrooms and family bathroom.

The master bedroom has an en-suite shower room while in the family bathroom there is an enclosed bath with shower and screen as well as a wash hand basin, fitted mirror and a heated towel rail.

The rear garden is in excess of 60ft and is mainly laid to lawn with a raised decking area, block paved patio and a timber shed.

There is off-street parking and a driveway to the front. A detached garage/office is currently used as a fourth bedroom and has a double glazed window to the front.

This property is available through Intercounty on (01279) 639666.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

IN the wake of the recent storms that have battered Britain in recent months causing misery for many, it's no surprise that more and more of us are looking to protect ourselves from future problems.

With some experts forecasting the frequency and intensity of storms is likely to increase further, it's important to protect your home against possible flooding.

You can check whether your property is on the potential hitlist by looking at the Environment Agency's flood maps, which assess the likelihood of flooding from rivers and the sea, reservoirs and surface water.

It's essential to have both buildings and contents insurance to provide financial cover if you are flooded. If you are a tenant, your landlord should have buildings cover in place.

If you are flooded contact your insurer as soon as possible if you want to make a claim as the company will be able to offer some advice - and might even have a dedicated helpline for flood victims. If possible, take photos of the flood damage and do not remove any items from the property before the insurer has assessed the claim.

Flood insurance claims cost insurers billions of pounds and this puts pressure on premiums.

The insurance industry has recently reached an agreement with the Government to cap flood insurance premiums which should bring down the cost of cover for high risk homes. Under the terms of the deal, the flooding element of household insurance premiums will be capped at £210 a year for homes in council tax bands A and B, rising to £540 a year for homes in band G.

Homes in band H and properties built after 2009 will not be covered by the cap which is not expected to come into force until the summer of 2015.

NEW GENERATION HYUNDAI i10 SCOOPS WHAT CAR? BEST CITY CAR 2014 AWARD

- The New Generation Hyundai i10 wins 'Best City Car' at the 2014 What Car? Awards
- What Car? praises its refinement, grown-up cabin and best in class practicality
- Hyundai's best-selling model in the UK just got better

High Wycombe, 9 January 2014 -- The New Generation Hyundai i10 1.0-litre SE has been hailed as the „Best City Car' for 2014 at the annual What Car? Awards, in a hotly contested battle against the likes of the VW up! and the Skoda Citigo.

Chas Hallett, Editor-in-chief at What Car? said: "The original i10 has always been a favourite of ours and our readers for its no-nonsense, value-for-money offering. However, Hyundai has now done the unthinkable with the New Generation i10 and knocked a more established brand off the city car perch. The new arrival is quick enough around town, not to mention more refined than any of its rivals. Where the new i10 really scores, though, is on practicality. The extra rear space means it can cope with everyday life, including carrying four adults in comfort."

Appearing over five years after its predecessor went on sale, the New Generation i10 represents significant progress for the brand in the city car segment. Hyundai has already sold over 110,000 units of the Original i10 in the UK alone since launch in April 2008, accounting for one third of European sales. The New Generation i10 features a more expressive design both inside and out, while generous levels of comfort, quality and safety equipment enhance the car's appeal even further.

Tony Whitehorn, President and CEO, Hyundai Motor UK, said: "We are delighted that the New Generation i10 has been recognised by What Car? in what is an extremely competitive market segment. The New Generation i10 is a hugely important car for us. It has built upon its solid credentials of value, comfort and practicality with an injection of the style, refinement and specification that consumers would expect in more expensive cars."

The latest version of Hyundai's best-selling model, the i10 city car, starts at £8,345. For more information, log on to www.cheshuntmotor.co.uk or visit CMC Hyundai, Edinburgh Way, Harlow.

CMC SEAT Harlow says now is the time to buy from carmaker's exciting range

- Arrival of Leon ST and Leon Cupra adds further variety to 'Leon family'
- Customers must check out sizzling deals across the complete range
- Dealership braced for added interest in brand after record-breaking year

CMC SEAT Harlow believes there has never been a better time to buy from SEAT's impressive family of Leon models - or other eye-catching cars made by the Barcelona-based brand.

Last month saw the much heralded Leon ST (Sports Tourer) - the first ever estate version of the Leon - go on sale, while next month hot hatch fans are sure to be thrilled by the arrival of the Leon Cupra. Both add even more variety to the 'Leon family' which already comprises the award-winning five-door hatchback and the Sports Coupé (SC) - the first ever three-door Leon.

Visitors to CMC SEAT Harlow's showroom in Edinburgh Way can see the new five-door Leon, priced from £15,850, and which has captured the imagination of thousands of motorists since being crowned Car of the Year at the annual Auto Express New Car Awards last year. The Leon also motored off with the Best Compact Family Car award at the glittering ceremony in London as judges recognised the hatchback has outstanding style, quality, equipment levels, and low running costs.

Paul Holmes, Proprietor and Dealer Principal at CMC SEAT Harlow, enthused: "Never has there been a better time to embrace the SEAT - and especially the Leon

- brand. The Leon five-door has picked up one of the most coveted motoring awards, while the stunning new SC is one of the most talked about cars of the moment. Now with the highly rated ST added to the SEAT Leon family and the powerful Leon Cupra on its way, there has never been a better time to buy from this superb model range."

With a shorter wheelbase, a slightly lower roofline, a more sloped rear hatch, broader rear 'shoulders' and distinct rear three-quarter windows, the SC, priced from £15,550, demonstrates SEAT 'arrow head' design in its purest form. Even with these striking features it loses very little headroom, and it remains a full five-seat car - with exactly the same large 380-litre boot as the five-door Leon.

The Leon ST, priced from £16,675, enjoys the same beautiful curves and sharp lines as the rest of the Leon family, while within its sleek body is 587 litres of boot space, which is among the biggest in its class. And with the rear seats folded it goes from spacious to vast, with a huge 1,470 litres available.

CMC SEAT Harlow is also eagerly awaiting the arrival in its showroom of the new SEAT Leon Cupra and Cupra 280, priced from £25,690, and with order books now open for the exciting hot hatches. Indeed the new Leon Cupra 280 is SEAT's most powerful series production car ever; the SC Cupra 280 DSG completes 0-62 mph sprint in just 5.7 seconds, yet still returns 44.1 mpg. In fact, every Cupra hits 62 mph in less than six seconds.

An eye-catching range of offers available until March 31 includes a free Technology Pack offer available on the Leon SE and FR - namely, full-LED headlights, DAB digital radio and a state-of-the-art Navigation System, with a combined value of £1,915.

SC, five-door and ST models are available on an attractive 4.9% PCP deal, or a 0% HP scheme when a minimum 50% customer deposit is placed; both deals are over a three-year period and include a £1,000 deposit contribution by SEAT UK, and mean that a SEAT Leon is available from as little as £165 per month.

CMC SEAT Harlow is part of Cheshunt Motor Company (CMC), and which for over 25 years has been a main dealer providing a professional high quality service to over 10,000 customers in North London, South Hertfordshire and Harlow.

For CMC SEAT Harlow the excitement surrounding the Leon is only part of the story - for the dealership has a range of other mouth-watering deals on offer at the moment. The Mii Toca, complete with SEAT Portable System Live, leather steering wheel and gear knob and 14-inch alloy wheels, can be snapped up from just £79 per month over three years on 4.9% PCP. Meanwhile the Ibiza Toca can be bought for £9,995 - a huge £2,710 saving on its recommended price. Again it comes with the feature-rich SEAT Portable System as well as 16-inch alloys. And the multi-award winning Alhambra is available on 0% HP with a minimum 35% deposit or at 7.9% PCP with a £2,500 deposit contribution by SEAT UK.

SEAT UK enjoyed a tremendous year in 2013, selling 45,312 cars and achieving a 2.0% market share - both company records.

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring 3663 is a leading wholesale food distributor and the preferred supply partner for over 60,000 customers across the UK.

We pride ourselves on our ability to provide anything from a teaspoon to a complete catering solution to customers of all sizes, utilising our national structure and the combined expertise of our employees. We provide every food option from quality ingredients to finished meals, including a number of own brand ranges as well as all the big brands and regional specialities.

Drivers - Harlow Depot

OTE earnings of £30,000 plus excellent benefits

We have a variety of opportunities for Drivers within our highly efficient transport department, and as part of our team you will be responsible for delivering our customers' orders in a timely and professional manner.

As the face of 3663 to our customers, you will deliver food and non-food products within food safety standards to multiple locations which normally vary each day, as detailed on delivery notes and route ordering. You will be required to maintain your vehicle's cleanliness and complete delivery documentation as required.

You will require a clean LGV Cat C driving qualification and an excellent, accident-free driving record. We're looking for experience of working in similar roles where you have also delivered high levels of customer service. You will be both flexible and adaptable in your approach so that operational and logistical changes do not affect our service delivery. Your strong customer facing skills mean that our customer relationships are developed and maximised.

To apply, please complete an application form which can be collected at the depot, or send your CV with a covering letter to Stephanie Reynolds, Transport Manager at stephaniereynolds@3663.co.uk or 3663, Greenway, Harlow Business Park, Harlow, Essex CM19 5QB

Mitchinson gets call to represent England

HARLOW bowls player Steve Mitchinson is all set to represent his country.

The former English national singles champion has been called into the 24-man England team for the British Isles Series in Stanley, County Durham, from March 12-15.

"One of the players has dropped out, so I have been promoted to a starting spot," said Mitchinson. "I am leading, with Billy Jackson (Lincolnshire), Mervyn King (Norfolk) and Nicky Brett (Cambridgeshire) skipping."

Mitchinson will be looking to find some national joy after suffering a heartbreaking 21-20 defeat earlier this month in the semi-final of the England National Bowls Champion of Champions Bowls – losing to the same opponent for the second time.

The player, who is sponsored by Autoprotect, failed to make the final after a thrilling and close encounter with fellow England triallist Chris Daniels from Bournemouth IBC.

He also lost by exactly the same score-line when he was beaten in the same competition just three years earlier.

It was the third time in three years he had reached the last four of this prestigious competition, only to fail while trying to mount the last hurdle to the final.

Jephcott shoots to a Gunpowder best run

HARLOW Running Club members showed they had plenty of spark at the Gunpowder 5K park run at Waltham Abbey on Saturday.

Jamie Jephcott ran a new course personal best for himself of 18 minutes 36 seconds, to finish fifth among 111 finishers in the race.

Behind him Daniel Jephcott ran home 13th with a time of 19.46, while Celia Haigh was 82nd in 29.10.

On the same day, in the Chelmsford 5K park run, Justin Pattern finished in 88th spot out of 334 finishers, with a time of 23.29. Right behind him was Janice Page in 89th, coming home just one second slower in 23.30.

On Sunday, at the St Luke's Hospice 10-mile run, Robin Lozeau came in 117th, with a time of 1:22.40.

Top British junior Josh eyes switch to USA

JOSH Steel's rapid rise up the basketball ranks is continuing at pace – and surely it won't be too long before he secures a switch to a top American professional club.

Steel, of The Hoo in Old Harlow, is now rated the top junior player in Britain and is deciding which American college he will join – the first rung on the ladder to following the likes of fellow Brit Loul Deng into the professional game where millions can be made.

The 6ft 4ins tall England Under-18 and Barking Abbey player, who only just turned 17 in January, has enjoyed a meteoric rise to prominence over the last couple of years, including a selection to the Jordan Brand Classic International Game in New York, recognising him as one of the top players in Europe for his age group.

He will remain in England for one more year but is already sitting on offers from Montana State

BIG DECISION TO MAKE: Josh Steel, the highest ranked GB junior, is considering offers from several USA colleges, renowned for their basketball

University, Florida Atlantic University and Drexel as he considers a move to a top college and from there he will surely make a switch to professional basketball and the likes of the New York Knicks and Orlando Magic.

Other top colleges in the USA including Ole Miss, Virginia, Tulane, James Madison, University of Nebraska, University North Texas, University of South Florida, and South Carolina are all showing interest in the Harlow youngster.

The teenager's rapid rise has seen him play for the England U-16s and England U-18s, as well as Barking Abbey and briefly Medway Park Crusaders.

In America, he played for Barking Abbey in the prestigious City of Palms Classic, where he turned a lot of heads.

Steel has put together a string of impressive performances in Men's Division One of the England Basketball League, averaging 18.2 points per game over his last four games (17, 22, 12, and 22).

Hawks get show on road as Spurs keeper signs

Harlow Tn 2
Chatham Tn 0
(Ryman Football League, division one north)

HARLOW Town recorded a victory in their final league game at The Harlow Arena before a gruelling five-match period of away games.

The Hawks beat Chatham Town 2-0 at home on Saturday, but boss Danny Chapman is well aware that the next month's matches will make-or-break their quest to lift the division one north crown.

This began with Tuesday's 5-2 win at Burnham Ramblers, but they now visit fellow promotion hopefuls Dereham on Saturday, Tilbury next Tuesday, before away matches against Waltham Forest (Saturday March 8) and play-off chasing team AFC Sudbury on Tuesday March 11.

Chapman said: "We have five away games on the bounce now and we are looking to pick up a minimum of 10 points. I would have liked to have been on 60 points but we have 59, so that's okay."

The Hawks boss has been delighted with his side's home form. "It has been fantastic this year. We have only lost three games – Soham, Waltham Abbey and Heybridge. But our away form needs to be improved."

On Saturday, Chatham's Ade Yussuf's shot hit the bar on 10 minutes.

The deadlock was broken in the 35th minute. Junior Dadson picked up a poor goal kick, stormed forward 10 yards before lifting the ball over a retreating defender and into the net.

Harlow made it 2-0 in the 85th minute. A defence-splitting ball by James Smith found ace marksman Alex Read who shot home from 15 yards into the corner.

Chapman was pleased to see Shane Stamp return as a late sub after several weeks out with an ankle ligament injury.

"Having Shane and [Junior] Dadson we have real pace down each side, providing Alex [Read] with chances – we are going to score goals."

Meanwhile, Chapman has allowed utility player Joe O'Donoghue and keeper James May to leave the club.

Chapman was excited by the signing of young keeper Luke McGee, who has arrived at the club on a one month trial from Tottenham, and watched Saturday's game.

Spurs coach Perry Suckling, the former Manchester City and Crystal Palace stopper, has overseen this move.

"It had to be cleared with Tim Sherwood and the coaching team. He is only 18. He has got good credentials," beamed Chapman.

"He will be here for one month to start with. He seems happy enough – it's a different type of football to what he has been used to."

"He has been playing for the Spurs academy and the U-21 team. It will be a good experience for him. It's all part of his development. It's proper competitive football, he's playing to win and achieve something. It's a different type of pressure and physicality."

"It's a side [young players] need to experience to know whether they can move on." HARLOW TOWN: Knowles, Barnard, Eadie, McLeod-Urquhart, Blewitt (Glowacki 45), Martin, Dadson (Stamp 88), Muguo, Read (McKenzie 88), Antoine, J. Smith. Subs not used: O'Donoghue, May.

Att: 192.

Harlow RFC are pioneering RFU coaching project

HARLOW Rugby Club are pioneering an RFU pilot scheme to coach young players.

The RFU has developed a new approach for teaching rugby to young players and the Elizabeth Way club is one of a small number of clubs who have been asked to pilot the scheme.

It goes under the name of Kids First Rugby and it focuses on children aged 6 to 11. The scheme has gone live in the Harlow mini and midi rugby sections.

"The section coaches gave up their time over a weekend to be introduced to the concept by RFU regional coaches and introduced it to the parents of club members after Sunday morning training," explained club spokesman Dave Sharp. "In the coming weeks the concepts will be built into the training sessions and the coaches monitor its success."

For more information about the scheme go to: <http://www.harlowrugbyclub.co.uk/kidsfirst/>

Both girls and boys are welcome to join. It is only from age 12 and upwards that they move into separate sections.

Meanwhile, the first team ended up playing their London division three north east fixture against Wanstead at Bishop's Stortford College after their opponents' pitch was waterlogged (see report right).

"When Wanstead told us that their ground was waterlogged and unplayable, we offered them the use of the Harlow ground which had dried out sufficiently to be playable. Wanstead were not happy to play at Harlow I assume because they did not want to give us home advantage. They did, however, have a member with connections with Bishop's Stortford College who was able to negotiate the loan of a pitch there and so that is where we played," explained Dave Sharp. "As it happened the pitch provided by the college was excellent and Harlow's speed merchants took full advantage of it."

Mackie convinced Rams can finish in the top four

Wanstead 25
Harlow 36
(RFU London division three north east)

FULL-back Rob Mackie is convinced Rams can still achieve a top four spot in the RFU London division three north east table.

Speaking after his side bounced back from a month without a league game due to the weather with a thrilling 36-25 victory against Wanstead, played at Bishop's Stortford College, Mackie set his sights high.

"We want to try and aim for fourth spot. That is attainable. We have to keep working hard and aim to improve our all-round performance."

Mackie revealed Harlow kept in tip-top shape during a month break from league action because of the weather – with some top training sessions at St Nicholas School, a massive complex which straddles Churchgate Street and Old Harlow.

Mackie told the Star: "The training sessions we had done at St Nicholas have been good for us."

"It was a good performance considering we had not played for a while. We also made sure we did not slip up early in the second half which we have done in previous matches."

This was a home fixture for Wanstead which had already been postponed because of a waterlogged pitch.

Thirteen minutes in, Mackie, from just inside the opposition half, broke with pace, taking play to the 22 where centre Luke Bowering took the off-load and ran in the try. The conversion was missed.

Wanstead began to get into the game as Harlow conceded too many penalties at rucks and set scrums. From a maul on the 5m line, the Londoners' No. 8 came clear with the ball and dived over players on the ground to touch down. The conversion gave them the lead and not long after a penalty allowed them to extend that to 10-5.

On the half-hour mark, a good attack by Harlow led to a maul deep in the Wanstead half and hooker Mark Bowering came away with the ball to force his way over to level the score.

On the stroke of half-time another Wanstead penalty made it 13-10.

The first eight minutes of the second half saw Harlow take the game by storm with the wind behind them.

They were soon on the attack and Mackie came into the line at pace and burst clear to score the try.

Kurtis Knightley converted.

On the restart from a maul, Lee Harron broke through and sprinted in for the try, Knightley adding the extras to put Harlow ahead 24-13.

Four minutes later Harlow were in possession again and they moved the ball to Will Grimley on the wing who sprinted past two defenders to score.

Another converted try put Harlow clear at 36-13. The forwards established a good base and this time

Jamie Fricker took the off-load and cut in to make the conversion simple.

In the final quarter, the Harlow forwards put good pressure on Wanstead, particularly from the line-outs where they took very clean ball.

However, when Wanstead did get into the Harlow 22, they drove for the line and ran in two tries, one converted to close the game out at 36-25.

This Saturday, Harlow travel to title hopefuls Old Cooperians.

HARLOW: Ephgrave (Mahmood 45), M. Bowering, Stonehouse, Unwin, Twiner, Eynon, Drake, Claridge, Harron, McGlone (Stradling 70), Grimley, L. Bowering (Heapy 60), Fricker, Knightley, Mackie.

NO less than seven young Essex County Cricket Club players will feature for the newly-launched Harlow Town Cricket Club girls team.

Nicknamed the Tornados, the team, based at HTCC's home at Ash Tree Field in Harlow, will be skippered by Francesca Cavadino and managed by Lee Richardson.

The first official fixture is scheduled for May 14, when the team will host Saffron Walden CC.

HTCC chairman Stuart Alderson is excited by the new team. "This is another really exciting development in the continued growth of our club. We have had a mission for a number of years to develop girls cricket in the town and this took a leap forward last year as we hosted a number of Essex CCC matches," he explained.

"The improvements to the club house and changing facilities have really made a difference to what we can accommodate in terms of matches so we decided that now was the time to launch the team. Lee, whose daughter Isabel is in the Essex squad, has been instrumental in building the team and we are both really excited about the season ahead.

"We have a number of sponsors interested in working with us to help raise the awareness and profile of the team with Intercounty

Harlow leading the way. We held the first official squad training session and it was amazing to see the girls taking up two of the four nets we have available for junior training at Passmores

Academy, while the U-13 boys trained in the other two." Practice recommendations on March 3 at 7.15pm at Passmores in Traces Road. "We are open to new members and encourage any girls aged between 9 and 15 who have an interest in cricket to come along and join in," added Alderson. Email enquiries@harlowtownccc.co.uk for more information or to join.

Signing of Spurs goalie such a coup

THE signing of Spurs youngster Luke McGee, who made his debut in goal for Harlow Town on Tuesday after joining on loan for the rest of the season, is a massive coup for the Ryman division one north club.

McGee made the most appearances for the Tottenham U-18 academy team last season, with 19.

The 18-year-old signed on work experience forms from the Premier League giants on Tuesday, and follows in the footsteps of another Spurs keeper, Jordan Archer, who signed a similar deal at Harlow's close neighbours Bishop's Cleeve two years ago.

Harlow, who visit play-off chasing Dereham on Saturday, will be missing skipper Darren Blewitt who completes a two-game ban for 10 yellow cards. Right-back Robbie Martin (thigh injury) is also out.

Hawks chief's scorn at unfair accusation

HAWKS chief executive Tom Cunningham has hit back after the club chairman of an Essex rival claimed the state-of-the-art 4G artificial surface at The Harlow Arena gave them an 'unfair advantage' in the promotion race.

Speaking just before Harlow Town closed the gap on leaders VCD to a solitary point with an away win at Burnham Ramblers on Tuesday, Cunningham laughed off the comments of Witham Town chairman Tony Last, whose side are also chasing promotion from the Ryman division one north.

Witham are eight points behind Harlow with six games in hand.

Cunningham said: "I'm not interested in the views other chairmen have of Harlow Town FC but I take Mr Last's comments as a major compliment because it highlights the considerable private investment we have made in Harlow Town FC, and the cancellation of matches this season justifies this."

"Furthermore, the all-weather state-of-the-art pitch is not only for the first team to play matches on, it has also enabled us to establish The Harlow Academy which will be a major part of coaching, educating and inspiring young footballers for years to come. This is what football is all about."

Witham have been hit the hardest by postponements in the whole division – they still have half of their fixtures left to play.

Their early-season cup exploits have meant they have been playing catch-up fixture-wise for most of the season, but a string of postponements – especially at Spa Road – means they are up to nine games behind some teams in the division.

Harlow's tally of 13 home wins – on their 4G pitch – is the highest in the league.

And Last said: "I think it's an unfair advantage. They're playing all their games, but again it is who can afford to go and pay £400,000 for a pitch – we can't."

"Even if you get a grant, you still need to find £200,000 and we can't find that sort of money. It's so frustrating."

"The teams down in Cambridgeshire and Norfolk haven't been affected so much by the rain. Harlow have got a plastic pitch, and I call it that because that's what it is."

"Every time you kick the ball or it bounces, some black stuff comes up. We've got eight games [in hand] on Soham, is that fair? I don't think so."

Witham were beaten in the play-off semi-final last year in their first season back in the Ryman League, and are on course to at least do the same this time around.

Last hailed the work of Witham manager and former Bishop's Cleeve player Garry Kimble, adding: "He's done a marvellous job and I can't praise him enough."

"But he's getting frustrated and the players are getting frustrated because they're not playing. All they're doing is training, we're lucky enough to have an Astro surface to train on, but all we can do is keep them ticking over."

He added: "We haven't had any snow yet, but if we get that what are they going to do then? They can't extend the league as Mr [Alan] Turvey [Ryman League president] has told everybody [they cannot]. But what are they going to do if teams have still got 10 or 15 games left to play when it comes to April 26?"

Striker turned down offer from Kingstonian

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman has revealed that hat-trick hero Alex Read turned down an approach from Kingstonian when they were top of the Ryman premier division this season.

The striker, whose treble in Tuesday's 5-2 victory at Burnham Ramblers maintained Harlow Town's title bid in Ryman League division one north, has rejected numerous approaches from clubs playing at a higher level this term because he wants to help the Hawks to promotion.

"We have had so many seven-day approaches for Alex this year," said Chapman. "The biggest one was Kingstonian and at the time they were top of the premier division. He turned them down."

"He knows what we are trying to achieve at the football club, which is nice. Someone who scores as many goals as he has is going to get interest from other clubs."

Harlow Tn 5
(Ryman League, div one north)

"It's nice to know he is not interested in going anywhere else. The only time would be if a Football League club came in – and he's still got a chance of doing that."

Read has hit nearly 40 goals in all competitions this season. "He has been fantastic. I think he has only missed one game, and that was when I gave him a rest."

"When I spoke to Tom [Cunningham] about him in the summer I put my neck on the line and said he was my number one target. It has paid off. He has repaid that faith," beamed Chapman.

The Hawks boss gave a debut to keeper Luke McGee (18), who has been signed on work experience from Spurs, against Burnham.

Harlow went ahead in only the first minute when Read fired home after James Smith chested the ball down to him.

Three minutes later, Dan Williams equalised for the hosts when he exploited a defence-splitting pass to shoot home.

The explosive start continued as Read restored the Hawks' lead on 10 minutes.

He tucked home a Junior Dadson right-wing cross from six yards.

Dadson then made it 3-1 in the 14th minute when he finished from a Shane Stamp cross.

Stamp, who played a very brief role as substitute in Saturday's 2-0 win at home to Chatham, has made a rapid return from an ankle ligament injury.

Harlow were dominant in the first half and should have scored twice more.

But the next goal did not come until the 67th minute and was scored by the home side.

A Jack Mead cross was controlled by Billy Hunt who turned round and shot home for 3-2.

Harlow led by just one goal but Read eased their concerns by netting another on 72 minutes.

Dadson went down the right and laid the ball back to Johnathan Glowacki, whose cross was headed in at the back post by Read to complete his hat-trick.

The scoring was completed by Dadson on 90 minutes.

He finished from three yards after James Smith had broken down the left and crossed to him.

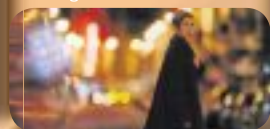

The victory left Harlow in third just a point behind leaders VCD, who have three games in hand on the Essex side.
